Greek National Forces Report Red "Invasion" Being Repulsed

YOUNG'S LONG PRISON RECORD RECEIVED HERE

Reveals Man Sought as Mrs. Gerbes' Slayer Often Behind Bars.

Edwin D. Young, 39, sought in a widespread manhunt in the Friday morning churchyard slaying of Mrs. Zora Hess Gerbes, 25, was revealed today as a man with sufficient criminal experience to make him difficult to catch.

Young's complete criminal record was received today by Sheriff LeRoy Retterer, who is directing the hunt, from the London prison farm.

It shows that starting at the age of 23 he spent more than seven years behind prison bars by the time he reached 35. Twice he was given 1 to 20-year prison terms, paroled, and on both occasions returned to serve additional time as a parole violator.

Despite the search for Young through Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and New York he apparently has dropped from sight along with his 1933 dark blue Chevrolet coupe.

Only One "Tip" Received

Sheriff Retterer reported today that in the last 24 hours only one tip as to Young's whereabouts had been reported to his office. That came from Sheriff Dailey of Allen county.

The Lima official reported he had received a call from the Lima Locomotive Works that a man resembling Young was seen on a B. and O. freight train at 3:30 p. m. yesterday. The train was southbound for Dayton.

Members of the train crew later said they believed there had been a rider on a gondola before the train reached Lima. A search of the train at Dayton, however, revealed no riders. Railroad officials said the rider would have had plenty of opportunity to leave the train since it traveled at slow speed for some distance before reaching Dayton.

The London prison farm report indicated that Mrs. Young, who returned to New Philadelphia from her trailer home here Sunday, was well aware of her husband's past record at the time of their marriage five years ago. At that time Young was on his last parole from the prison farm. He did not receive his final release until about a year later.

The prison farm records listed Lillian Walton, now Mrs. Young, as the "girl friend" of Young.

Mrs. Young told Sheriff Retterer that she and Young became acquainted while both the Young and Walton families were living in Uhrichsville in Tuscarawas county.

First Prison Term

Young's first arrest resulting in a prison sentence was on auto theft charges in New Philadelphia. After spending five months in jail he was convicted and entered the Mansfield reformatory Oct. 2, 1931, on a 1 to 20-year sentence. Eleven months later, Sept. 15,

Funeral Services For Mrs. Gerbes Held in Church

By MARY HERRING

Funeral services for Mrs. Zora Hess Gerbes, 25-year-old churchyard murder victim, were held yesterday afternoon at the First Church of Christ in Christian Union on North State street.

The small church with a seating capacity of approximately 200 persons was filled to capacity with people standing three and four deep in the back of the church and in the vestibule as well as lining the sidewalk in the immediate vicinity. Cars were parked on both sides of the street for four or five blocks during the services.

Sermon by Rev. Truex

Rev. Melvin Truex, pastor of the church, delivered the funeral sermon on a text taken from the fourth chapter, tenth verse of Genesis, "The voice of thy brother's blood cries unto me from the ground." He divided his sermon into four parts: that the woman who had met such a violent end would cry, first to God, then to the killer, to the church and to the individual.

He cited the fact that God had forgiven sinners while hanging on the cross and as long as one sought His aid, it would be given.

For the second phase Rev. Truex drew a comparison between the slaying of Abel by his brother Cain and the murder of Mrs. Gerbes. He asked the question of the audience whether both the church and individual had done their best in an effort to contribute to and live a Christian life.

An interval of transcribed organ music was played during the hour preceding the funeral services after Mrs. Gerbes' body was taken to the church. A steady

Circleville Hit By Flash Flood Fatal To One

"Good Samaritan" Electrocuted in Rescue Attempt; Damage Heavy.

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, O., July 15 — This city's 8,000 citizens today began clearing debris and repairing utilities and buildings damaged in a flash flood which caused one death and $100,000 property damage.

Dozens of trees littered Circleville streets or rested on splintered roofs. Several homes and barns stood roofless. Power lines dragged in the mud and the bridge on route 22 at Harcus creek lay crumpled in the water. At least one gas main still leaked badly.

Dozens of Pickaway county farmers surveyed heavily damaged fields, their crops washed away in a near cloudburst which totaled 5.28 inches and a wind which reached 60-mile-an-hour velocity.

During the height of the storm, which struck late last night, city telephone and electric service was blacked out by power failures. Circleville was virtually isolated for hours.

Marcus creek rampaged through a residential section, driving more than 30 families from their homes. U. S. route 23 stood under six feet of water, cutting off north-south traffic.

Sheriff Charles R. Radcliff reported that George Goeller, a farmer living on the Stoutsville pike a half mile from here, was electrocuted when he touched a broken power line after playing the part of a Good Samaritan.

Aids Truck Driver

Goeller, the sheriff said, had gone to the aid of a truck driver named Adams who had been trapped by the broken line after a utility pole was blown down. After rescuing the truck driver, Goeller himself became entangled in the power line and was killed, the sheriff said.

The truck driver was treated at Berger hospital here for minor burns and discharged.

The state highway patrol dispatched four cars from Columbus, one from Lancaster and one from Chillicothe to Circleville to assist local officers in untangling traffic and restoring facilities.

Highways leading into the city were cleared early today with the exception of route 22 which was blocked by the washed out bridge on Mingo street.

All gas service into the city was shut off when the main gas line from the Sugar Grove pumping station was damaged by high waters in Marcus creek.

Cars Flooded, Stall

Mayor Ben Gordon said cars were flooded and stalled by the sudden cloudburst but that the water began to recede before midnight after running as deep as four to five feet in some of the main streets.

Most of the property damage, Sheriff Radcliff said, was caused by flooded basements and felled trees. One tree fell on a house but the occupants escaped injury.

Only the downtown section of the city had electric lights after a power substation on the Stoutsville pike was knocked out.

Several Central Ohio Towns Feel Storm's Lash

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 15—Flash floods struck several central Ohio communities last night as a series of thundershowers brought near record rainfalls.

Circleville was the hardest hit. At Columbus, the third heaviest 24-hour rain on record filled viaduct underpasses and the fire department was called to a downtown hotel where water filled a basement to a depth of 15 feet.

AGREEMENT ON COAL HAILED

Steel Executive Sees Pact as Bar to Inflation, Slump.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 15 — George M. Humphrey, Pittsburgh coal and steel executive, said today the new coal wage contract "will do more to stabilize the economy and retard inflation" than settlement of any controversy in the industry in several years.

Humphrey, who played a major role in negotiation of the agreement with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, told the joint congressional committee on the economic report that the contract will spur output of coal and added:

"Production and only production which creates a balance of supply and demand is the only sure cure for the increasing wage and price spiral."

Avoids Strike

Humphrey said the contract retards inflation "by avoiding a strike and all of the resulting damage that would surely follow" from a deadlock.

Humphrey testified after Earl Bunting, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, told the committee that the nation should be able to absorb this year's "second round" wage without going on an inflationary spree.

The NAM head also declared that the key to continued economic growth and prosperity is a united effort for greater production, plus tax cuts to provide "venture capital" for expansion of industry by 600,000 new jobs a year.

In his prepared statement to the committee, Humphrey took no direct recognition of President Truman's appeal yesterday to steel and coal producers to give the mine wage hike a "fair test" before boosting prices and possibly touching off a new spiral of price advance.

More Coal, Less Cost

But Humphrey did say:

"If the coal operation which has been promised by the miners' union is realized, and it is much more apt to be so by satisfactory mutual agreement than by strikes and government controls, increasing production and increasing efficiency will surely mean more coal at less cost.

"On the other hand, the affect of shortages on prices is conclusively illustrated by the increase in spot prices for coal which have taken place recently when a strike

VETO MESSAGE DUE THIS WEEK

Truman Pledges Prompt Action on Just-Passed Second Tax Bill.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 15—The White House said today President Truman's message vetoing the new $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction bill will be sent to congress this week — probably on Friday.

In advance of final congressional action on the Republican measure, Mr. Truman had given notice that he intended to reject it as he had a previous, similar bill. He also gave assurances that the veto would be forthcoming promptly after he received the legislation.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, in discussing plans for the veto message, told reporters that the bill is expected to reach the White House some time during the day.

Overriding Hopes Dim

The possibility of putting the bill into law over Mr. Truman's veto has virtually disappeared despite the 60 to 32 votes by which it passed the senate yesterday. Although this gave tax cut advocates a 28-vote margin, it fell two votes shy of the two thirds needed to override presidential rejection.

With the senate membership now 95, those 32 "nay" votes would be sufficient to prevent enactment. And the administration is counting on another sure vote with the scheduled return of Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) today from an international conference in Switzerland.

Republican backers of the bill refused to concede defeat.

Senator Millikin (R-Colo), manager of the bill, told reporters there still is "a fighting chance." Senator Taft of Ohio, the Republican policy committee chairman, held that there is a possibility yet of passing it over the veto.

Goes First to House

It will go first to the house, which passed the bill a week ago today by a vote of 302 to 112.

The current measure is identical with the one Mr. Truman killed last month except that it would take effect next Jan. 1 instead of July 1, 1947. It provides tax cuts ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest income range to 10.5 per cent at the top.

In his first veto message Mr. Truman called the bill the "wrong kind" at the "wrong time."

SERIES OF MISHAPS CLAIMS 1ST VICTIM

Chicagoan Dies; Hurt Where 17 Cars Crashed.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, July 15—Jacob M. Samuels, 58, of Chicago, is dead, the first fatality stemming from a series of skidding accidents on the three-mile stretch along route 30-N near the Wyandot county line, where 11 automobiles have left the road in the last 10 days.

Mr. Samuels died in City hospital here of internal injuries suffered in the accident, the ninth of 11 last week involving a total of 17 cars and 41 persons to date.

The Samuels car had skidded off the road and while he was examining the damage to his car, a second car skidded into him, injuring him critically.

A joint warning to motorists has been issued by Sheriffs B. H. Stansberry of Wyandot county and Ralph Schreck of Crawford county to drive with added caution on route 30-N from the junction of route 231 three miles west into Wyandot county. The state highway department has announced that the existing condition would be remedied "immediately."

Marshall Assured of Two-Party Backing for European Policy After Address to Governors

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, July 15—Secretary of State Marshall told the nation's governors last night that the United States has reached a "turning point" in European relations and got prompt assurances today of bipartisan support for his plan to help rebuild Europe.

Unless it elects to lose its "incalculable stake" in Europe, the cabinet member said, America must extend a justifiable measure of aid to friendly countries or see them drift into a non-Democratic orbit.

In a crowded eight-hour stopover on a strenuous roundtrip flight from Washington, the graying soldier-diplomat grimly told the governors' conference here that there is "no blinking the fact that this country now stands at the turning point in its relations to its traditional friends among the nations of the old world."

Before he climbed wearily aboard the presidential plane "Sacred Cow" for the return trip to Washington, Marshall made a detailed explanation of his economic rehabilitation plan to the state executives in a closed door session.

Russia Opposes Plan

This plan, on which 16 western European nations are about to take the first steps toward drawing a blueprint of their needs, has aroused sharp criticism from Russia.

The secretary's public call for support from the governors in building up the public opinion behind his program in order to insure its approval by congress next year met with prompt responses of support from Republicans and Democrats.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York Republican, declined any comment, but Gov. Earl Warren, California Republican, said that Marshall's proposal for a "course of action fully consistent with our own national interests" constitutes "a very sound approach to the international situation."

Gov. Mon Wallgren, Washington Democrat and close personal friend of President Truman, told a reporter that he fully endorses Marshall's statement.

Pennsylvania Chief Agrees

Gov. James H. Duff, Pennsylvania Republican, said he is in accord with Marshall's program, as he interprets it.

Gov. William Lee Knous, Colorado Democrat, characterized Marshall's talk as "an appeal for support and an expression of confidence by the people."

Gov. Kim Sigler, Michigan Republican, called the address "a very carefully worded statement by a sincere gentleman."

Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl, Minnesota Republican, who has been espousing the candidacy of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen for the G.O.P. presidential nomination, urged that countries now within the Russian orbit not be excluded from all chance of American economic assistance.

Before Marshall's speech, two prospective rivals for the Republican presidential nomination—Warren and Dewey—expressed clashing viewpoints on taxation.

Dewey Presides

Dewey, presiding at a roundtable discussion of fiscal policy, advocated a division of sources of tax revenues between the federal government and states in order to eliminate overlapping, duplication and confusion.

He suggested that the income

Europe Pushes U. S. Aid Plans

Go Ahead with Conference Despite Outlook Money Will Be Delayed.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, July 15—A well-informed source at the 16-nation economic conference said today the organization of European cooperation for recovery would proceed despite indications that United States money for the Marshall plan would not be available before late winter.

The informant—commenting on Secretary of State Marshall's address last night in Salt Lake City, in which he said the program would not be submitted to congress before January—said the Marshall timetable doubtless was fixed after careful consideration of the best means of preparing the legislation.

(What the cost will be never has been stated definitely. Benjamin Cohen, state department councilor, said a month ago Europe would need $24,000,000,000 during the next four years and would require $15,000,000,000 alone to prevent starvation.)

Official French circles said they saw no reason for altering the goal of Sept. 1 for completion of a survey of resources and dollar needs among the 16 nations participating in the Paris conference. (Russia and eight eastern European nations declined to take part).

The nations which make up the conference executive committee and four subcommittees on food and agriculture, iron and steel, transport and coal and power were selected yesterday by the rules committee. The nominations were to be submitted to a plenary session at 4 p. m. (10 a. m. EST.)

This was expected to be the last plenary session until committee reports on assets and dollar needs are completed. A British spokesman said Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin probably would return to London tomorrow.

Police Stumped in Case Of Missing War Bride

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 15—Columbus police reported today lack of any clues in their search for attractive, dark-haired Faye Ann Crow, 20-year-old British war bride.

Her husband, Ralph Crow, who formerly served with the Eighth Air Force in England, told police she had been missing from their home here since Thursday and that he was at loss to explain her disappearance.

Mrs. Forest Crow, with whom the couple made their home, reported there had been no quarrels and that Faye Ann and her son appeared happy together. They were married two years ago in England, and she joined her husband here last Feb. 1.

CORN LOSS SET AT 118 MILLION

This Year's Yield To Be Only Two-Thirds of 1946 Harvest.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 15 — Bad weather has cut down Ohio's corn crop to two-thirds of the 1946 yield, causing farmers a potential loss of more than $118,000,000.

A government crop report disclosed today that conditions July 1 pointed to a crop of around 119,000,000 bushels, or 59,000,000 bushels under last year. September corn was quoted in Chicago yesterday at $2.06 a bushel.

The Ohio Cooperative Crop Reporting Service said, "Corn plantings were greatly delayed by wet weather and the bulk of the crop was not put in until around mid-June and later. By July 1 some corn was barely through the ground while a little was three or four feet high."

The report showed that 3,386,000 acres had been planted in corn, or 93 per cent of the 1946 acreage.

Difficult Planting Season

"Ohio farmers experienced a very difficult season for planting spring crops but by July 1 had about finished except for some late plantings of soybeans and potatoes, and some plantings of buckwheat," said the report issued by Glenn S. Ray of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

"Winter wheat prospects," the report said, "declined slightly during June, and the crop now promises 51,378,000 bushels compared with 48,522,000 bushels in 1946 and 42,117,000 bushels, the ten-year average.

"Oats plantings were greatly reduced due to unfavorable weather conditions. Some oats were even planted late in June. The 795,000 acres for harvest are but little more than half the 1946 acreage. Indications July 1 point to a yield of only 26 bushels per acre compared with 45 bushels in 1946. The indicated crop is 20,670,000 bushels compared with 62,235,000 in 1946 and 39,970,000, the ten-year average."

Soybeans Also Less

The report said that some ground intended for corn was planted to soybeans "but the 863,000 acres of soybeans for all purposes are two per cent less than the acreage in 1946." A [illegible] of the soybean yield will be made later.

BRITISH TAKE SERIOUS VIEW

International Brigade in Army Athens Claims Comes from Neighbors.

By The Associated Press

A Greek cabinet minister announced today "the situation has radically changed in favor of national forces" in northwestern Greece, where the army was reported moving into battle positions against guerrillas who the government said "invaded" Greek soil from Albania.

In London, where the situation was described by British government sources as a "very serious turn of events," a foreign office spokesman said Britain was investigating Greek charges that an International Brigade was invading the strife-torn country. A government informant said if the charge was considered founded, a joint British-American protest may be lodged with the United Nations.

The UN security council already was in extraordinary session on the Greek situation. The United States demanded at Lake Success that the council give top priority to the entire Balkan problem in view of its "urgency."

Discussion Delayed

The council deferred a scheduled discussion of a global police force when the Greek government pleaded that the Balkans debate be expedited.

The appeal came in the form of an extraordinary Greek letter to the delegates from Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis, who said he was acting "upon urgent instructions from my government." He told the delegates that "strong and well-armed hostile forces invaded Greek territory from Albania July 13."

The letter said that "substantial forces, including units of an International Brigade of irregulars and Communists" were concentrated on the Albanian side of the frontier and that Communists in Greece, Yugoslavia and Albania were attempting to form a rebel government.

Pincers Movement

In Athens, sources close to the general staff reported the army was attempting to snap shut a pincers movement against strong guerrilla units driving south of Ioannina (Janina).

Army sources said two important engagements with guerrilla columns were imminent in northwestern Greece. Informants close to the Greek general staff said a new "invasion" was possible from the direction of Yugoslavia.

The informants quoted headquarters of the Second army corps and the Army of Northern Greece—both of which are involved in the current operations—as saying: "we've got the invading forces in a difficult position." Unofficial estimates said eight battalions—about 2,500 men—were in the guerrilla forces in the areas where the two battles impended.

Guerrillas Move South

Two guerrilla columns were said to have started moving southward toward Ioannina, capital and largest city of Epirus after the attack on Konitsa two days ago. Konitsa is about six miles from the Albanian frontier and 20 miles north of Ioannina.

In another shift, Earl Shaffer will take over basketball coaching exclusively in the athletic work, while Harold Tenwalde and Mr. Sweigard will serve as co-coaches of the football team. Mr. Sweigard played tackle on the Upper Sandusky Rams high school team, guard on the Findlay college team and more recently halfback for Bowling Green State university.

Mr. Sweigard in addition to his duties as shop instructor and coach, will also conduct a new course placed in the schools here for the first time. The course will provide drivers training to junior and seniors desiring the instruction. The work is sponsored by the Automobile Association and state department of education. The local Ford agency will supply a car in which dual controls have been installed.

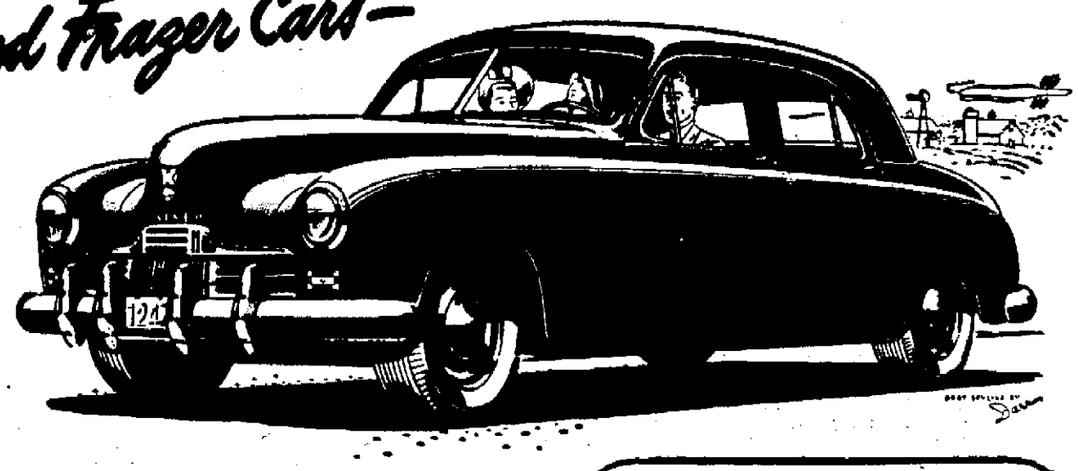
NOW, OVER 56,000 OWNERS of Kaiser and Frazer Cars—



KAISER

MORE THAN 12,000 CARS BUILT IN JUNE!

Yes, Willow Run has reached a production rate of more than 12,000 KAISER and FRAZER cars per month—better than a car per minute! One hundred and twenty million dollars worth have been sold at retail. And the public buys the factory output every month—and asks for more. Production is being increased!

The reason for the phenomenal success of these 100%-postwar automobiles is easy to discover. The 56,000 proud owners who have driven them millions of miles are the best salesmen we have! They are enthusiastic—and tell their friends. They know they have something new and different. They know they have styling and design far in advance of the rest of the industry. And they know they enjoy a ride no other car can equal!

Drive either of these cars. Compare the ride with the best you have ever known. You will want to own a KAISER or a FRAZER. Then place your order! Increased production means that we can now give you early delivery.

Both cars are serviced with genuine factory parts—wherever you go—by one of the four largest automobile dealer organizations in the world.

FIVE IMPORTANT REASONS WHY THE PUBLIC LIKES THE KAISER AND THE FRAZER

1. Because they are beautiful! They look like what they are—the newest things on wheels! They set the fashion for all future motor cars—in body lines and colors.

2. Because they are roomy! The whole width of these cars is inside! Both seats are more than five feet wide. Six adults have room to spare. And then, too, there is 27 cu. ft. of space in the luggage compartment!

3. Because they are safe! Extra low center of gravity and stabilizer bars both front and rear, cut sway to a minimum. They hug the road! Superlative vision in all directions. Smooth, positive braking action.

4. Because they perform! The economical, 100-hp., six-cylinder engine provides a very high horsepower-to-weight ratio. Sensational acceleration. Unbelievable gasoline economy!

5. Because of the ride. Owners say there never was a ride like this! No car designed before the war can even compete. This you must experience! Compare the ride, today!

COLOMBIA CITY HIT BY QUAKE

South American Government Rushes Aid to Stricken Town.

By The Associated Press

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 15—The government rushed medical supplies and assistance today to quake-stricken Pasto in southern Colombia, cut off since yesterday from communication with this capital by a series of tremblors feared to have caused heavy casualties and damage.

Unofficial reports said that hundreds of buildings in Pasto, a city of 50,000 near the Ecuador frontier almost 300 miles south of Bogota, had been wrecked. There also were indications that Ipiales, a town of 15,000 to 20,000 30 miles southwest of Pasto, had been affected.

There was some speculation that the temblors might have been caused by an eruption of Mt. Pasto volcano, at the foot of which the city of Pasto is situated.

News of the earthquake filtered into Bogota by roundabout sources many hours late.

The first temblor was reported to have shaken Pasto at about 2 a. m. yesterday, and was followed by two others at intervals during the day—the longest and worst lasting about nine minutes.

The population of the city, which was devastated by a quake in 1827, was reported panic stricken, and refugees were said to be fleeing the area. Electricity and water services were said to be no longer functioning.

Among buildings reported wrecked was the telegraph center, government house, hospital, market and university. The dome of the church of San Filipe, regarded as one of the city's best works of art, was said to have collapsed.

The Pasizara airport, a new project on the outskirts of Pasto, was believed to have suffered considerable damage.

Testing was supervised by Ohio State university in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

MARION COAL PRICES GO UP $1.75 A TON

New Mine Pay Hike Reflected in Cost to Consumers.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion will pay up to $1.75 a ton more for coal as area dealers are being forced to fall into line with the nation-wide price advance in the wake of the recently signed contract between the UMW and coal operators, it was learned today.

Associated Press dispatches yesterday noted advances from 75 cents to $1.75 per ton reported by dealers in Ohio key cities as a further twist was given the "wage-price spiral" following signing of the contract giving 400,000 miners their highest wages in history.

A number of local dealers have already received notification of the price hikes which may average $1.50 a ton on premium grade bituminous coal. Others are anticipating notification of revised price schedules daily.

Coal stocks are generally low at this time, dealers indicated, with several having received no shipments since the walkout by the miners. A majority of the dealers are awaiting arrival of back-ordered cars from which to fill a reported backlog of coal orders here. No fear of a coal shortage here was indicated by local dealers however.

Pastor Hardy has served eight years on the mission field. With him in the United States is his daughter, who will enter Asbury college in prepartion for missionary work among the pygmies in Africa. COUPLE WED 50 YEARS HONORED BY GRANGE

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Midlam Receive Tribute at Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Midlam, active members of Martel Grange, who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, were honored at a meeting of the Grange Tuesday, July 8, at the school auditorium.

The honored couple was escorted down the anniversary path bedecked with flowers and gold numerals, by the assistant stewarts, to a rose covered trellis under which the couple were seated. During the march, the male trio of the grange composed of Ivan Downs, Cover Rinehart and Everett Douce, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Pangborn, sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and the entire group was led in singing "When You and I Were Young 'Myrtie.'"

Mrs. Dale Porter gave a reading, "Fifty Years Ago and Now," and Mrs. Jay Hedding sang "Memories." The trio then sang "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnett," and everyone joined in the chorus.

Mr. and Mrs. Midlam were presented a basket of flowers from the grange by Kenneth Pangborn and both responded with short talks. Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Cover Rinehart, Mrs. Charles Rorick and Cory Pangborn. Decorations were in charge of Mrs. Hedding, Mrs. Kenneth Pangborn and Mrs. Clyde Logan.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Logan.

New members were received, and plans were discussed to have a display at the Marion County fair this year. A report was given by Mrs. Homer Kile, chairman of the sick committee, and an announcement was made that Earl Douce was named the new business agent.

Two showers will be held at the next meeting, for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rush and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kellogg. Each family is requested to bring a covered dish and sandwiches.

We'll Never Know

"IF PRICES are raised at once and a wave of increases in related prices upsets our economy," President Truman said Monday, referring to the prospect that both coal and steel prices would rise, following the settlement with United Mine Workers, "We never will know what would have happened if the coal and steel managers had been willing to wait."

Mr. Truman arrived at this wistful conclusion by assuming that the efficiency resulting from the miners' settlement will more than offset increases in their hourly rate of pay. It is only fair, he believes, to wait to see how things turn out. But the President is already too late. Consumers will never know how things might have turned out. Increases in the price of coal already have been announced. Increases in the prices of everything affected by the price of coal will follow in due time. That is the way it's done. Mr. Truman isn't going to be able to change it.

It would be dandy if cause and effect could be kept separate. It would have been dandy when wage rates began to go up during the war—and prices began to go up too. It would have been dandy when wage rates went up after the war—and prices began to go up too. It would have been dandy if politicians and labor union economists had been able to make wage rates go up without affecting prices, but they couldn't do it. That isn't the way it's done. Mr. Truman, when he wishes wistfully that prices could be kept from rising still further, also needs to wish—wistfully—that wage rates could be kept from going higher. Because until that happens, prices will rise, whether the politicians like it or not.

The Pouncers

WHAT may be in historic perspective the first overt move by a foreign power to pounce on a weak Greek government and thereby to get control of Greece, has been reported.

A border incident has occurred between Greece and Albania. A sizable force based on the latter country has been pushed back after an attack on a Greek village. There are rumors of an "international brigade" somewhere in the offing—a force hostile to the Greek government, organized outside Greece, financed by foreign funds and directed by persons serving a foreign power. This would be, by all accounts, something like the "international brigade" that fought in the Spanish revolution—which subsequently was disclosed to be a Russian-directed effort to get control of the Spanish peninsula, instead of permitting control to fall to the axis, which wanted the peninsula for its own purposes.

In the Spanish war, everybody lost, including chiefly the Spaniards. The United States was, for the most part, an interested bystander, absorbed in futile efforts to maintain its neutrality. This time the United States is a contender, dedicated to the proposition that whatever pouncers may be planning to take over Greece will have to deal with it first (the Truman doctrine.)

All news from Greece henceforth will have direct bearing on the progress of American policy to discourage the game of international pounce, sometimes called power politics.

Ohio's a Good Name

FOR YEARS Representative Jenkins of Ironton has been trying to have a street or avenue in the nation's capital named for Ohio. There was an Ohio avenue years ago, but it was in a slum district and disappeared in a building project.

The Ohio congressman's campaign hasn't met with success. District of Columbia commissioners have offered Naylor road, but it's an out-of-the-way thoroughfare: Benning road, which Jenkins doesn't want because it "starts nowhere and gets nowhere." Certainly attributes he doesn't want associated with Ohio: and Dalecarlia parkway, a mere snip of a street suitable for bearing the name of Rhode Island or Delaware. Jenkins wants Eastern or Western avenue, but these are important boundary thoroughfares, and the commissioners believe attempting to change the name of either would kick up a rumpus.

Forty-five states have Washington streets named after them. Ohio doesn't even have a battleship. Ohio's a short, convenient, easily remembered name, like that of a breakfast food or detergent soap. If one of Washington's principal streets can keep a name like Connecticut through the years, Ohio ought to have SOMETHING named after it.

Failing to find a suitable street, the congressman might keep a sharp lookout for athletic fields and parks. We shouldn't try forcing Ohio's name in where it isn't wanted as New York did with the Avenue of Americas, which is still known to most New Yorkers as "Sixth avenue."

News Behind the News

Politics Shaping Up Like Pretzel Puzzle.

WASHINGTON, July 15—The political situation is shaping up like an unterminated pretzel. You can see the curves up to now plainly enough. But where the dough maze will wind up, nobody knows.

Mr. Dewey has gone out to make character in the west. From New York with 96 convention delegates, he has gone out to the 6 delegate states, not to gather party votes, as popularly supposed, but chiefly to gather a ten gallon political disposition. Candidates often make the same trek for the same purpose at this stage.

If Dewey were after delegates, he should have come down here to see the Republicans in both houses of congress. This is where the delegates are. Senator Martin has the 76 or so from Pennsylvania in an inside pocket. Senators Taft and Bricker could tell Dewey about Ohio, and probably also Indiana and Illinois, although it might not be anything Dewey wants to hear. Speaker Martin could issue Massachusetts and probably all New England like script. California's legislators who know Gov. Warren are aware where California's are, and probably also Oregon and certain Rocky Mountain states, including those Dewey will visit. Harold Stassen, the only man who ever made a profitable career out of running for president and/or vice president, could tell him about Minnesota and perhaps Iowa; Wherry about Nebraska; Baldwin about Connecticut, and so on.

Dewey could take a pencil and paper, come to Washington at much less railroad fare, and ascertain he lacks a majority of delegates without favorite son support. Furthermore, he might figure he could not get a popular majority, even with Missouri, which he picked up from the national committeeman in the first prearranged stop on his way west, (an air pick-up gift if there ever was one, because Truman is supposed to be able to carry something)—as I say he may find no delegate majority obtainsbe until he meets the boys in the backroom here. Or he might win a few primaries next spring, and show some strength (this is what he is figuring on, they say) in which case the boys might come up to his backroom at Albany (Stassen and Warren having already found the way).

So while Dewey is supposed to be making a runaway race out of it, no one will predict where he goes from here. Taft is going west himself, shortly, and will identify himself while there, as the only prominent opponent of Dewey to date. He is supposed to have better than an even share in the southern delegates. If Dewey lines up with Warren and Stassen, and Taft comes into the convention with the middle west and south, there could be a fight worth watching. Taft definitely will not retire from it. Toward a close convention fight is where he is heading now.

Mr. Truman has conducted his pretzeling quite simply. He has tried to veto himself into nullification of Henry Wallace. This would leave him at the head of the unions politically (this is theory), and cause both the conservative and untamed Democrats to rally to him as the champion of both leftism and rightism. Well, Roosevelt did it. Term after term, he did it.

Lewis' Place in Picture

His people will encompass the Stassen wing of the Republican party. (Dewey also?) Demonstrate that the Republicans failed to cut expenditures, enact a timely political tax reduction next spring, come up with a spending budget of $30 billions absolutely must, necessary, unavoidable expenditures for 1948—and waltz to White House glory on the radical and conservative thirty billion dollar ticket.

The same glaring flaw confronts both Democrats and Republicans. John Lewis who has been conducting the national economic policy since importing the sit-down strike everywhere except in coal mines, has increased the average mine wage from $14.47 a week in 1933 to $65.25 in 1947, and has not announced his political choice for the White House to make him, say a $100 a week average just for 1949, of course. Mr. Truman's budget indicates he will spread enough money around for Lewis to get it, but they say lately Lewis has been looking at Dewey and asking: "Can I hear $110?"

Anything You Send Can Be Used Against You

Ohio's Rep. Welchel is demanding that the United States cease shipment of oil to Russia.

That's as logical as eggs in an omelet.

I'm not one of those let's-get-it-over-with-quick boys who think we ought not export anything except ultimatums. But certainly we ought not send Stalin any more gasoline until we know he intends to do right by our Ethyl.

If I had my way, the only oil we'd furnish the Russians right now is maybe a little for Gromyko's hair.

We've got enough to do looking after our would-be friends without catering to our would-be enemies.

I thought we learned from the Japs that the best preparedness consists of putting your trust in the Lord and keeping your scrap iron at home.

The Indispensable Items

By RAYMOND MOLEY

AS THE die is cast for a union of western Europe, the Paris conference must get down to specifications. The greatest needs come first, and the most urgent of these is coal. Before the war, three quarters of the coal used in Europe came from the United Kingdom and from Germany. Now, since most of Germany's coal is in the British zone, the whole problem is Britain's. The first questions we want answered by Europe are: What can western Europe do to increase, rapidly and before winter, a supply of European coal? What can the United States do to help? In 1918-1922, Europe accomplished a miracle in the recovery of coal production. Can this be repeated?

Food comes next. The need is greatest in Germany and Austria. In most of the other countries it is not so much a question of food production as of distribution and stabilized finances. France has always fed herself, but now the peasant prefers to feed his cattle rather than to sell his food to city people. Similar situations appear in Italy, southern Germany and Austria. Europe must tell us how we can help stabilize their currency and distribute their food. Peasants want money for their products, not paper substitutes for money.

Transportation Problem

Transportation comes next. All kinds of European transportation are slow and irregular. Most Americans wonder at this, because they fail to realize the extent to which Europeans are dependent on inland waterways. A third of German coal was normally transported over rivers and canals which are usable only eight months of the year. The barges formerly used for hauling coal have been taken away. Sea-going craft have been destroyed or removed. Here is dire need.

Fourth on the list is fertilizer. One ton of synthetic nitrogen, properly used, produces 20 tons of grain or 100 tons of potatoes. The problem thus goes down to rebuilding German factories in which fertilizer can be produced from German air and German coal. Meanwhile, the United States may be called on for immediate supplies.

The need for iron and steel under the new European alignment will probably result in the scrapping of the Potsdam plan for holding down German production of iron and steel to one-third of prewar production. Control of armament production will probably have to be accomplished by some other means. But Europe will most certainly claim from us a large proportion of the metal products necessary to rebuild the industry.

Seven years after the first World war, all European nations, except the Soviet Union, created the so-called steel cartel system. The Paris conference may seek a similar plan. Here American prejudices against cartels may interpose objections.

It is possible that out of Paris may come long-term proposals for a western Europe customs union. A small beginning already exists in agreements among France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg. The break with Russia may hasten the grand economic alliance which has been the dream of many statesmen, businessmen and economists.

The creation of order and of ultimate self-sufficiency may well come from this Paris meeting. Urgent need, a prospect of generous help and the final breaking of the Soviet spell may accomplish what has never been possible before.

The Answer Is Yes

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, July 15—A great national debate, of the deepest historic significance, is clearly looming ahead as to whether Secretary of State George C. Marshall's words at Harvard are to be backed by American money and American goods. The debate will be heated, and with November, 1948, on the horizon, it is sure to have intense political overtones. The central question of the debate will certainly be: "Can we afford it?" It is worth pointing out that, at least as far as money is concerned, the answer is quite evidently "yes."

This answer is founded on unofficial but reliable estimates. The figures on which these estimates are based are simple enough.

The total government income for the last fiscal year, ending June 30, was something over 43 billion dollars. Last January President Truman submitted to congress an estimated budget for the present year of over 37 billion dollars. The congress is now hard at work trying to reduce this sum. Even if not a penny is cut, the estimated outgo would still be nearly six billion dollars below last year's income. If congress pares off as much as three billion, the difference between last year's income and this year's outgo will then be almost nine billion dollars.

Present Outlook Favorable

The level of employment and of business activity (contrary to the gloomy crystal ball gazing of the economists) is now higher than it was during the last fiscal year. The highest estimate thus far made of the total cost during any one year of the Marshall program is six billion dollars. Thus, assuming that the government's slice of the national income during the present fiscal year is as high as it has been during the year just ended, it is obvious that there will be more than enough surplus in the government kitty to finance America's part in the plan.

A very large string must of course be firmly attached to that statement.

This is the qualification that the United States must suffer no economic depression, nor even a fairly mild recession during the coming year. For even a moderate drop in the present great level of national income would knock all estimates galley-west. But here, curiously enough, in the view of reliable economic forecasters, something like the opposite of the all too familiar vicious circle will tend to come into operation. If the Marshall proposal had not been made, the enormous volume of American exports would have begun to fall off sharply in the next few weeks or months. The European countries which are now running out of dollars would have been forced, regardless of consequences, to hoard their last few millions against a sudden emergency. The resulting plunge in the American export level would have made inevitable at the very least a distinctly painful recession.

Willing To Gamble

However, with the European response to the Marshall proposal getting under way, the European leaders will certainly be inclined to take a chance.

Faced with desperate internal economic situations, they will undoubtedly gamble that the American congress will choose to back Marshall up. Thus the American level of exports will hold up, while the Europeans scrape the bottoms of their dollar barrels. And this in turn enormously reduces the likelihood of a serious recession in the near future, and makes it probable that the United States will have the money available to play its part in the Marshall proposal. Thus is the happy circle neatly completed.

What all this adds up to is that, in terms of dollars and cents, this country can well afford the effort which must be made to put dying Europe back on its feet. No sensible estimate, of course, can be made entirely in dollars and cents. Money has meaning only in terms of the things it can buy. Yet despite inflation, despite high taxes, despite the housing mess, the plain fact is that this country is living better in terms of things to buy than it or any other country has ever lived before. And no informed person believes that this happy state of affairs will long continue if Europe is allowed to descend into a political and economic chaos which will profit only the Soviets.

Finally, of course, there is politics. As the presidential year approaches, the temptation will be enormous for both sides to use for political advantage what will surely be the paramount issue of the times. Yet politics and all, this country has always squeaked through in the pinches. When Secretary Marshall made his speech at Harvard, he was taking a calculated risk that it would do so again.

Free Competition

Robert J. Watt, United States workers' delegate to the 30th session of the International Labor Conference at Geneva, Switzerland, recently explained the American concept of democracy to fellow delegates as follows:

"In my country, ideas and methods are constantly being tested in competitive contest. Of course, we have free enterprise, but we have free competition, too . . .

"I represent the economic and political philosophy of the working people of my country, who in 1944 voted for Roosevelt and Truman and who in 1946 voted a majority of the opposition party into congress . . .

"Of course we make mistakes, but it is easier for people who are free to correct mistakes than it is for governments, who are usually unwilling to admit a mistake when they have made it."

General Isenhower's Desire

("I would like to be best remembered as the chief of staff who did something about the army's cooking."—General Eisenhower).

Not as military genius
Nor as brass hat extra high
Would I like to be remembered
In the well known public eye,
Someone else can be the wizard
And the guy of super feats
Put me down as just the fellow
Who improved the army's "eats!"

II

No Napoleonic halo
Do I crave upon my bean;
You can have your Julius Caesars
And all other sluggers keen;
They took continents and nations;
May historians relate
I took gravy off rice pudding
On the GI's crowded plate!

III

Hannibal, the mountain crosser,
Rated high in all the books;
I would merely be the fellow
Who crossed up those army cooks,
He with elephants was clever
In fact very close to tops..
Think of me as one who never
Put ice cream on mutton chops!

IV

They say Kitchener of Khartoum
Was a genius; I confess
I'd be simply "Eisenhower
Of the Improved Army Mess";
He had methods most unfailing
And the genuine "know how"...
Think of me as not detailing
Plumbers cooking army chow!

V

Old Von Moltke was a wonder
In the Hall of Fame he's high
(Tho he tolerated sauerkraut
Slathered on the custard pie!)
Think of me if you'd be kindly
Just for this and nothing more
I put no clerks in the kitchen
While the good cooks went to war!

VI

Marshal Foch will live forever;
As a scrapper he will gleam;
Let me live for this one statement:
"Catsup's lousy on ice cream"
Washington, ah, what a fighter!
Father of this land, no less;
I'd go down as just the father
Of a wholesome army "mess"!

VII

U. S. Grant was seldom second—
And that old line he could wham;
As for me just give me credit
For no custard on the "Spam";

I seek no such fame as these ..
Call me "General Ike who never Served the canned jam on green peas."

No Complaints

By TRUMAN TWILL

They were talking about a woman who has presided cheerfully over a houseful of males—three boys and a husband—for upward of 25 years.

"She's a terrible housekeeper," someone said, "but a swell mother. The kids and the old man all worship her, in spite of the way the place looks."

So today it may be in order, instead of writing about something else, to say in behalf of women who are punk housekeepers but swell mothers that no one has any complaints coming—none at all.

Good housekeepers can be hired, with a little luck and a lot of money. But swell mothers are to be treasured above all things, and if they happen to be a little careless about keeping the house in apple-pie order it's not worth mentioning.

In fact, since it's difficult to keep house for males and have enough time left to be a swell mother, it might be better to skip the housekeeping entirely and concentrate on the more important job.

It's a lot easier to find a clean pair of socks in the wrong place than to have to hunt for a chuckle and a pat on the head. If the beds happen to be half-made, or maybe not at all, they can be slept in better with a clear conscience and a light heart, things that only swell mothers can take care of.

The best meal ever prepared can be tasteless as steel wool if it can't be eaten happily and seasoned with an atmosphere of affection. It doesn't much matter how clean the windows are if the people inside have nothing more interesting to do than look out of them.

The tenderness of a mother's heart is more important than the tenderness of her pie crust, if one can't have both. It's better to know there are no skeletons in the closets than to be sure there isn't any dirt under the edge of the rug.

As far as that's concerned, ladies and gentlemen, no one ever introduced a good housekeeper with a hundredth of the pride that goes into introducing someone who has turned out to be a Grade-A mother. Not that being a good housekeeper isn't important, understand, but because housekeeping is only a poor second in importance.

Perhaps this may fix up an impression that when a woman's presiding over a happy household that could stand a little more housekeeping it's necessary to apologize because she isn't as handy with a mop as she might be. No apologies are needed. Good housekeepers can be trained. Swell mothers are the result of rare combinations of circumstances, like diamonds.

New Drilling Cuts Diamonds

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—A new method of electrical drilling shapes diamonds into tiny wine-glass forms in one-fiftieth of the time it formerly took.

The wine-glass diamonds are diamond dies used for making extremely hard and fine wire strands, important in radar and many other electronic devices.

Developed at the National Bureau of Standards, the discovery has revolutionized the fine wire diamond die industry and introduced it into the United States for the first time, says the Journal of the Franklin Institute.

Annabelle wants to know if any of Pudge's friends ever heard the army and navy gave the hotels back to the civilians some time ago. But she sends out the drapes and rug to be cleaned and spends four days on her knees polishing the furniture. And Pudge forks over $52.80 for theater tickets.

Monk and Mamie breeze into town like a hurricane 15 minutes late for Florida.

'Let's go right up to the Ostrich club and let the celebrities have a gander at Mamie," says Monk.

'I just put on some lamb chops," protests Annabelle, 'and I thought afterward we could sit around and you and Pudge could talk over old times.

No Home-Week Yet

"I ain't ready for old-home-week yet,' says Monk. 'Let's kick up our heels just like you New Yorkers do every night. Mamie and I won't get in the way, kid."

So up they go to the Ostrich club and Pudge has to let go five dollars to the man with the rope at the door. Monk four hours and 10 drinks later still doesn't want to go home. Pudge gets the tab and gives up any idea of buying a summer suit. Then roll on home in a cab but Monk insists he's gotta ride around Central park by moonlight, and Pudge gets that bill too.

For six days and nights Monk and Mamie do the town, and of course good ole Pudge and Annabelle have to stay with them. Monk says they just gotta split the checks, as that is only fair but even so Pudge is considering bankruptcy as an easier way out.

Audit Own Accounts

But after a week Monk and Mamie begin auditing their own accounts and decide even the real estate biz hasn't been that good. So they decide to cut the visit short and Annabelle can hear Mamie's voice through the thin bedroom walls.

"I don't see why they live in a place like this—it's almost Bohemian. I can smell the carpets in the wall."

And Annabelle whispers to Pudge.

"That tomato-faced witch! She put $400 on my charge accounts for some new clothes and I can't buy anything myself now until she gets around to paying us back—if she ever thinks of it."

"Sh-h-h-h"" says Pudge the peacemaker.

Say Farewell

The next day, after a quick gallop up the Empire State building, Monk and Mamie say farewell at the train in a flurry of tired kisses.

'New York's a great place to visit, Pudge," says Monk, 'But I sure wouldn't want to live here. How do you stand the pace?" And the train takes them away.

"If anybody ever says that to me again, I'll brain them with a fireplug" says Annabelle. 'Listen, next Monday I'm going looking for a one room apartment so far out on Long Island your friends will never find the way with a map. I don't care if you have to ride the subway the rest of your life."

And all Pudge is thinking is that good ole Monk left in such a hurry he plumb forgot to pay his $26.40 share of the theater tickets.

OHIO CORN CROP DIPS 59,000,000 BUSHELS

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, July 15 — The 1947 corn crop in Ohio will drop about 59,000,000 bushels from the 178,000,000 harvested last year according to present indications, the Ohio cooperative crop reporting service announced today.

The bulletin pointed out that plantings were greatly delayed by wet weather and the total number of acres 3,366,000, was only 93 per cent of that planted last year.

Glenn S. Ray of the state and federal agricultural department crop reporting service said current prospects were good, considering the adverse weather and that an average crop equal to the past 10-year level would probably be yielded.

Winter wheat prospects declined slightly during the previous month but still exceeded the 1946 yield since 19 per cent more wheat was planted. A total of 2,186,000 acres of wheat were sown.

Oat plantings were also reduced because of weather conditions and the 795,000 acres for harvest are but little more than half the 1946 acreage planted was increased one expected to drop also to 26 bushels an acre compared with 45 bushels in 1946.

The crop service forecast 3,585,000 tons of hay will be harvested this year, eight per cent less than the 1946 level, although the total acreage planted was increased one per cent over the previous year.

Only 4,050,000 busels of potatoes were expected to be yielded this year as compared with 7,650,000 in 1946 and the ten-year average of 9,539,000.

Sugar beet prospects were down to almost half of the 234,000 tons in 1946 and tobacco registered a decrease in expected yields.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Fatigue, Fear

Fatigue over-work and fear can have strange effects on the human body but none, perhaps more strange at first glance than the sudden agonizing attacks of pain in the rectum, known as proctalgia fugax.

Yet the logic of the many physicians who assign these ultimate causes to the disorder is clear, once it is realized that the pain in such cases is due to a spasm or sudden clamping down of the muscles, an effect easily and often brought about by nervous strain and tension.

Attacks of proctalgia fugax may last a few minutes or several hours. Usually however, they pass in about twenty minutes and occur most frequently at night. Generally these attacks are limited in the beginning to a few each day, but tend to increase in frequency until they happen every day.

The disorder may be associated with another condition thought to be largely of nervous origin spastic colitis, and indeed many doctors regard proctalgia fugax simply as one form of spastic colitis.

It seems to occur most often in middle-aged persons who are overworked and worried. It may be made worse by excessive smoking and the abuse of alcoholic beverages. The fear on the part of the patient that he may have a serious disorder, also may make the attacks worse.

In certain cases, an examination of the rectum will reveal some abnormal condition, such as piles, but treatment of the piles will not relieve the attacks of pain.

It would appear that with proper treatment, however, the disorder may be completely relieved. As soon as treatment is started the attacks tend to become less severe and less frequent.

Carrying out the treatment, it is important that the patient understand the nature of his condition. Next in importance, is regulation of work and responsibilities so that the patient has enough time for leisure, and overstrain, both mental and physical is eliminated.

The meals should be small, frequent and regular, that is, the patient should eat four or five small meals a day rather than three larger ones. For the time being, raw fruits and vegetables should be eliminated from the diet. Laxative drugs should not be used unless absolutely necessary, in which case, the physician will prescribe the proper one usually mineral oil. Tincture of belladonna, which has the effect of relieving pain spasm, may be taken daily for several weeks in doses prescribed by the doctor.

The most important part of the treatment, however, is regulation of the patient's life. He must not have to many responsibilities, too many hours of work, or too strenuous pleasures. With proper regulation of his living, the proper diet, and the use of such drugs as the physician prescribes, the attacks may be completely eliminated.

Of course there are other causes for pain in the rectal area. When such symptoms develop a thorough study is necessary including an examination with a proctoscope, that is, an instrument made of a tube with lights which can be passed into the lower bowel, permitting direct inspection of the tissues.

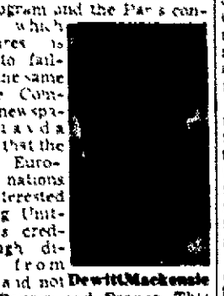
Russia To Fight West but Will Accept U. S. Dollar Aid To Do It

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

As the battle of the European blocs gets under way it is producing some strange, though typical, tactics on the part of Russia and her satellites.

The Moscow press is maintaining a violent barrage of propaganda against the Marshall economic program and the Paris conference, which it declares is doomed to failure. At the same time the Communist newspaper Pravda records that the eastern European nations are interested in getting United States credits, though directly from America and not through Britain and France. This follows the announcement by Poland, after she had turned thumbs down on economic cooperation that she expected help from the U. S. A.



DewittMackenzie

From this distance that would seem to be about like saying 'We are going to fight your economic project to a finish, but we expect you to furnish us with the wherewithal to do the job."

Taking It in Stride

Still, the western democracies are taking all this in stride with unruffled tempers. The door remains open for Russia and her followers to participate in the economic program.

However, informed sources in Washington have made it clear that the countries of eastern Europe can benefit only to the extent of contributions they make to the general European economic revival. In short there must be a quid pro quo.

Thus far the signs have been that while Russia is uneasy she hasn't the slightest intention of cooperating with the western democracies or of allowing the members of her bloc to do so if she can help it. That "if," by the way, is a very big one, and for two reasons.

In the first place the eastern bloc of nations isn't economically self-contained or anything like it, and it therefore badly needs cooperation with the rest of Europe. Secondly, the Soviet bloc is a very unstable one because it is made up of liberty-loving countries which always have fought infringement of their independence. There is no doubt that Czechoslovakia and some other members of the Russian bloc are most unhappy over the trend of affairs, and want to participate in the Paris conference.

Of course, much will depend on the economic trend in Europe in the immediate future. The situation as a whole is mighty bad but the consensus of the experts is that things will get worse before they get better. Then the question arises of what parts of Europe are going to be hardest hit.

In this connection we mustn't overlook the possibilities of deliberate economic sabotage in some countries where the battle of the isms is hot. Take Italy and France for example. These—and especially France,—are key positions and the governments of both countries are undergoing heavy attacks from big Communist parties which have been fomenting labor trouble to hinder economic recovery in these two hard-hit nations, and the same is true in less degree in some other states. Communism thrives on chaos you know.

Meantime down in the Balkans, with the ground of wars, the Communist onslaught to bring Greece within the Red fold has been intensified. Heavy fighting is proceeding between Greek regular troops and Red guerrillas who are said by Athens to be backed by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. The United Nations Balkan investigating commission in a majority report confirms this charge.

Weddings

In a candlelight ceremony Friday evening in Prospect Street Methodist church, Miss Myrtle D. McCullough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCullough of 273 Clover avenue, became the bride of Edwin Fetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fetter of 134 East George street. The couple repeated their vows at 7:30 o'clock and Rev. Henry Maag, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony. The custom of open church was observed.

Palms and lighted candles in two seven branch candelabra formed a background at the altar for a basket of white gladioli.

A program of nuptial music by Mrs. Robert Rice, organist, preceded the ceremony. Her selections included "Thine Alone," Herbert, "Through the Years," Youmans "Salut D'Amour," Elgar, "Always," Berlin, "Indian Love Call," Friml, "Liebestraum," Liszt, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," Stults, "Ave Maria," Schubert, "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte, "Because," d'Hardelot, and the traditional wedding marches, "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," Wagner, for the processional, and "Wedding March" from "Midsummer Night's Dream," Mendelssohn, for the recessional. During the ceremony, she played "O Perfect Love," Barnby.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a white gabardine suit with all white accessories. Her open crown white hat was trimmed with white veiling and her jewelry was a strand of pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of white rosebuds and showered with streamers tied with rosebubs. Her only attendant was Miss Barbara Withrow of Marion. She was attired in a pink gabardine suit with white accessories and an open crown white hat. Her flowers were a corsage of pink rosebuds and blue delphinium.

Donald Barkley of Marion served as best man, and ushers were Robert Culbert of Fremont, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Robert Withrow. They also lighted the candles.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McCullough chose a midnight blue crepe dress with which she combined pink accessories. Mrs. Fetter was attired in a black crepe dress with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, the couple left on a wedding trip through northern Michigan. Mrs. Fetter was wearing her wedding suit with a corsage of white rosebuds. Upon their return, they will reside for the present at 273 Clover avenue.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a compact, and the bridegroom gave his best man a billfold.

Mr. Fetter, a graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1939, served with the U. S. Rev. Ellis Guthrie, recently assigned pastor of First Church of the Brethren was guest preacher Sunday night in the union service held at Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, the second in the summer Sunday evening series.

6 DAMAGE SUITS IN COURT AGAINST RAILS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 15 — Four damage suits against the New York Central Railroad Co. and two against the Lake Terminal Railroad Co., which operates in Lorain, O., were on file today in federal court.

Robert J. Yeager of Lorain asks $100,000 from the Lake Terminal, claiming that he was ordered to alight from a moving train to protect a crossing last Oct. 23 and stepped into a hole, suffering permanent injuries as he fell.

Mrs. Melinda M. Paskey of Lorain, widow of a brakeman, seeks $40,000 from the Lake Terminal, alleging that on May 12 the sudden stopping of a train threw her husband between two cars and caused fatal injuries.

One of the suits against the New York Central was filed by Robert W. Kephart of Niles, O., who asks $75,000 for injuries received when he was thrown from a tank car near Youngstown Jan. 30.

Another plaintiff against the New York Central claims the railroad, in hiring a quarrelsome man to work beside him did not provide a safe place in which to work. Abraham Nathan of Geneva, O., asserted that on Sept. 7, 1945, a fellow employe hit him on the head with a pair of tongs, causing permanent impairment of his sight and other injuries. He asks damages of $75,000.

Lloyd E. Kidder of Elkhart, Ind., demands $35,000 from New York Central, claiming negligence when he fell and was struck by a coupler on Jan. 20, 1945. Harry D. Staub, also of Elkhart, seeks $35,000 from the New York Central, and says he was thrown from a car March 1, suffering concussion of the spine.

FIVE-STATE MOTOR THEFT RING PROBED

By The Associated Press

PENNINGTON GAP, Va., July 15—State police and federal bureau of investigation agents continued their investigation of alleged widescale motor thefts over a five-state area today as two out-of-state arrests in the case were reported.

In Cincinnati Roy Gambrel, 30, of Hamilton, O., was in jail in default of $7,000 bond for return of the western court district of Virginia for trial on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Louisville, Ky., to Big Stone Gap, Va., he was arraigned before the U. S. commissioner there July 11.

At the same time a man identified by the FBI as Herbert Lee Napier, wanted in Pennington Gap in connection with the same case, was in a Kingsport, Tenn., hospital with a bullet wound received in an exchange of gunfire with Sullivan county officers last Thursday.

Earlier Napier's brother, William Napier, and Charles Thompson, Pennington Gap Motor Company president, and his son, Cecil, had been arrested by state and federal officers and charged with violation of the national motor vehicle theft act in the same case.

Charles W. Brown, agent in charge of the Richmond office of the FBI, said at the time of Thompson's arrest that that motor concern sold 200 cars during 1946 and 1947. Warrants for the arrest of the father and son were issued on information indicating that many of these were stolen in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Tennesse and sold to dealers and individuals in southwest Virginia and eastern Tennessee, he said. The buyers had no knowledge of the origin of the vehicles, Brown added.

taxation be left entirely to the federal government and, in return, that Washington relinquish to the states exclusive rights to levy so-called nuisance taxes.

Warren said he believed in the "principle" of delination of fields of taxation but argued it would not work in practice.

"If the states should abandon the income and sales taxes," he said, "and in turn receive liquor, luxury, amusement and gasoline taxes, the states would be putting themselves on an insecure basis, since they would be dependent upon the rise and fall of income from luxury items. That would be a dangerous thing."

Cleveland Beef on Hoof Touches New Price Peak

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 15—Beef on the hoof is at a new peak in the Cleveland union stockyards.

Seventy-three head of choice grain-fed Hereford steers shipped in by Warren Phillips, Bristfild, Mich., brought 31.5 cents a pound in yesterday's market, breaking the local record of 30 cents set several months.

Cattlemen attributed the peak here and in other livestock centers to the prospect of short supply in corn, as reflected in the July 1 crop report, which predicted corn production would be 20 per cent under last year.

Check on Pressure Gauges Provided In Clinic Here

With the canning season in full swing women of Marion and the surrounding community will be afforded an opportunity to have their pressure canner gauges tested at a food preservation clinic to be held Tuesday, July 22, at the Ohio Public Service Terminal on West Center street, it was announced today by the sponsors, the Ohio Public Service Co. and the County Agricultural Extension office.

In charge of the clinic will be Miss Ruth Kleinmaier, home service director with the Public Service Co. and Miss Mary Faye McMillan, county home demonstration agent.

A film in color on canning and one on freezing will be shown during the day and food, which has been frozen in a home freezer will be served. GREECE indicated that a battle might be joined about 15 to 20 miles north of Ioannina.

50 Taken Prisoner

The other guerrilla column near Kalpaki, which is south of Konitsa, clashed last night with government troops. It was reported that 50 guerrillas were taken prisoner in the engagement. This force, which the government charged came from Albania, apparently aimed at moving down the Kalamais valley, also leading to Ioannina.

Sources close to the general staff said there was a possibility of still another invasion of Greece's frontier.

These informants, however, would not specify the point from which such an invasion might take place. Unconfirmed reports said Florida and Kastoria, both opposite the Yugoslav frontier, were being strengthened.

Ty Cobb Arrested On Intoxication Charge

By International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15 — Tyrus R. "Ty" Cobb said today that he will demand a jury trial on the charges of being drunk on a public highway.

The baseball great, now a wealthy businessman, is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis at Placerville, Cal., on July 22 to answer the charge.

Cobb spent two hours in the Placerville jail before gaining his release on $25 bail. He was arrested Saturday in a car driven by Lucille La Pointe, formerly his housekeeper. She was cited for reckless driving and fined $25.

Court officials said that no charge was placed against the "Georgia Peach" when Miss La Pointe was brought before Judge Lewis. But, they added, Cobb used his skill in badinage—which he wharpened up against umpires in his baseball days—to such effect that the judge ordered him jailed.

Wisconsin Begins '48 Boom for MacArthur

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, July 15—General MacArthur told visiting American editors privately yesterday that he would like to live in Milwaukee when he retires—and Milwaukee friends promptly announced they would support him for president in 1948, entering his name in Wisconsin's Republican presidential primary next April.

"I'm positive he will be available," Chairman Lansing Hoyt of the Wisconsin MacArthur for President club asserted.

(There was no immediate comment from MacArthur, who in the past has disclaimed presidential aspirations.)

BLIMP CRASHES INTO SEA, FLIES AGAIN

By The Associated Press

EUREKA, Calif., July 15 — Navy blimp K-99, caught in a terrific down-draft of air, plunged into the ocean south of here yesterday, and, after its 11 occupants had escaped unhurt, rose again to come finally to earth eight miles north of Eureka.

Lt. D. E. W. DeVaney of San Jose, Calif., the pilot of the 250-foot craft, said it became unmanageable when caught in the draft while cruising approximately 150 feet above the water on a photographic mission for the California bureau of marine fisheries.

The front section of the gondola was torn from the craft and both Devaney and the co-pilot, Lt. B. A. Goetze, of Minneapolis, were thrown into the water.

Six of the nine men remaining on the blimp immediately took to a rubber raft. Three of the navy men, whom the pilot did not name, remained aboard in an attempt to regain control. They finally were forced to leap from about 10 feet when the blimp became airborne again and started to drift away, out of control.

RUSS "PIPELINE" TO A-BOMB DATA AIRED

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, July 15—The senate national defense committee was reported today to be considering an investigation to learn whether Russia had a "pipeline" in to the atom bomb project.

Committee Chairman Owen Brewster, (R-Maine) said his group was interested in finding out if the $2,000,000,000 spent on the Manhattan Project "went down the drain to a foreign power." The nation's atomic facilities were known as the Manhattan Project while they were under Army control.

Brewster said his committee was concerned chiefly with the financial aspects of the bomb's development and security.

His statement came in the wake of hearings for two former army sergeants accused of stealing top-secret documents from the A-bomb plant at Los Alamos, N. M., Earnest D. Wallis, 34, of Chicago and Alexander Von Der Lutt, 23, of Mount Lebanon, Pa., were arraigned yesterday before U. S. commissioners in Chicago and Pittsburgh. They were freed in $10,000 bail each pending hearings in federal court.

Attorneys for the two veterans said they were motivated only by "a soldier's love for souvenirs."

DEWEY LEADS SECRET POLL OF GOVERNORS

Favorite for 1948 of 10 With No Other Candidates Near.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 15—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York won first place by a wide margin today in a secret ballot poll of Republican governors expressing their preference for the 1948 G. O. P. presidential nominee.

Democratic governors showed such a wide variance of opinion in the same poll that only one potential candidate got as many as two first place votes for the vice presidential nomination. He was former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

In a poll conducted by The Associated Press in cooperation with the Desert News and the Salt Lake Telegram, Dewey received 10 first place votes and his nearest contender, Gov. Earl Warren of California, two.

The remainder of the total of 17 first place votes cast by the Republican governors were distributed one each to Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois, Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania.

U. S. Demands Balkans Come First with UN

By The United Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 15—The United States, alarmed by the guerrilla "invasion" of Greece, urged the United Nations security council today to drop all other business and speed a decision on the Balkan dispute.

Greece increased the tension with an urgent appeal for quick council approval of American proposals for UN peace-keeping machinery in the Balkans to avert what it called a Communist-inspired attempt to install a "rebel government" within Greek borders.

ASK END TO AUTO TAX

Man Faces Hearing On List of Charges

Melvin Luke Niquette, 41, is scheduled for a hearing on four counts in municipal court tomorrow. He is charged by police with intoxication, disorderly conduct, resisting an officer and attempting to assault in menacing manner. Patrolman Floyd Wilson said while he was attempting to arrest Niquette last night near the Pennsylvania railroad on West Center street for intoxication Niquette tried to fight and threatened him with a knife. He succeeded in making the arrest after striking Niquette and getting the aid of bystanders, Wilson said.

It was the thirteenth arrest for Niquette, police said. He was fined on five occasions for resisting an officer, court records showed. At an arraignment this morning Niquette pleaded not guilty on all four counts.

Musical Numbers

After the arrival of the immediate family and other relatives, who were seated in the center section of the church, an interlude of hymns was played by the church pianist, Mrs. Geraldine Bishop, with Miss Betty Hicks and Mrs. Raymond Donaugh singing. The only hymns requested by the family were two by Mrs. Kellis, Mrs. Gerbes' mother, "Rock of Ages" and "Good Night Here—Good Morning Up There." Other hymns played following the sermon were "Does Jesus Care" and "Face To Face."

Rev. Moses Packer who had known Mrs. Gerbes all her life, opened the simple service with a Scripture reading followed by a prayer. The service was completed within an hour and the funeral procession proceeded to the family burial plot at Forest Glen Memorial Park, north of town, where the body was to be interred.

Members of the immediate family present included her stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kellis, with whom Mrs. Gerbes and her three children lived, Kenneth Gerbes, her former husband, her children, Kenneth Lee, Diana Frances and Judith Kay, and her father, Pearl Hess of near Caledonia.

Pallbearers were Dewey Fox, Carl Castle, Denzel Whipp, Frank Heller, Irvin Lucas, and William Baker, all friends of the family.

Six cousins served as honorary pallbearers. They are: Miss Pearl Weatherbee, Mrs. Nora Doll, Mrs. Fern Boone, Mrs. Elizabeth Penry, Mrs. Dimples Roberts and Mrs. Melba Coens.

ALASKA TOWN LOSING FIGHT AGAINST FIRE

By The Associated Press

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 15—Weary, desperate fire fighters retreated today toward the imperilled fishing village of Kenai, pursued by a raging Kenai peninsula forest fire which leaped a 40-foot protective fire block Sunday and swept within six miles of the tiny cook inlet community.

Army engineers from Fort Richardson and Alaska road commission crews worked feverishly to bulldoze a new encircling gap four miles from the village outskirts. A backfire is planned if winds are favorable.

Though 30 men were flown in Saturday to relieve the exhausted soldiers who had fought for four days without rest, 13 of the original 29 engineers sent to the area volunteered to remain on the battle lines.

U.S. HOLDS STABLE GERMANY NECESSARY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 15—The United States today told American occupation authorities that a "stable and productive" Germany is necessary to make Europe "orderly and prosperous."

This statement was contained in a new policy directive outlining basic American principles toward Germany. Made public by the state department, it supersedes the old directive which has been in effect since May, 1945.

The directive instructs Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American zone commander, to "exert every effort to achieve economic unity with other zones" until the Allies agree on ways of treating Germany as an economic and political unit.

The British and American zones in Germany have been merged economically but Russia and France have declined thus far to join their occupation zones into one over-all unit.

The new policy generally continues disarmament and demilitarization provisions but puts emphasis on economic measures needed to rehabilitate Germany.

The statement said:

"The basic interest of the United States throughout the world is just and lasting peace. Such a peace can be achieved only if conditions of public order and prosperity are created in Europe as a whole."

YOUNG

1932, he was paroled, only to be returned to the reformatory April 19, 1933, as a parole violator. The nature of his violation was not indicated in the prison farm report.

Two years later, April 20, 1935, he was re-paroled and received his final release from the sentence May 25, 1936. He actually served two years and 11 months in the reformatory.

Slightly more than a year later, June 5, 1937, Young again was arrested in New Philadelphia, this time on a charge of forgery. He was indicted by the grand jury, pleaded guilty and was given a 1 to 20-year sentence in the Ohio penitentiary in Columbus. He entered the prison June 17, 1937, the day after sentence was passed and 12 days after his arrest.

Sent To Prison Farm

He was transferred from the Columbus penitentiary to the London prison farm May 28, 1938, and was given a parole from there Aug. 19, 1939. Three months later, Nov. 20, he was returned as a parole violator.

He was re-paroled from London Nov. 19, 1941, and received his final release from the sentence Jan. 19, 1943. He actually served 4 years and 2 months on the 1 to 20 year term.

The records show that three months after his parole from the London prison farm he was arrested by the state highway patrol for having stolen license plates on his car. There also was a quantity of gasoline in cans in the machine which could not be accounted for. He had two sets of stolen plates in his possession, the record shows—one taken from Waynesburg, O., and the other from a New Philadelphia junk yard.

Although paroled to New Philadelphia the prison record quotes him as telling the parole officer he had made trips to nearby counties and on one occasion was as far away as Wheeling, W. Va. On a number of these trips he took along Lillian Walton, now Mrs. Young.

The prison farm reported Young sometimes used the alias of "G. F. Warner" while on parole. The sheriff's office reported he also used an alias here on some occasions. He was reported to have used the name "E. Edwards" when he called at the Houghton Body Shop last Thursday afternoon to obtain an estimate on the cost of repairing the body and right rear fender of his car.

Dante Foranzo, 31, an unemployed mechanic, was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property. Police said three of the etchings were stolen from a museum last November. The museum was not named.

Council To Meet Three Nights In Succession To Act on Bills

The absence of two members on vacation and one due to illness of committees of city council at its regular meeting Monday night left a few pieces of legislation were of the type that could be passed with one reading in the presence of six councilmen. They will meet again tonight and Wednesday night in order to get the proposed legislation the required number of readings. Voting Wednesday night after the second reading. According to law at least seven of the nine councilmen must be present to suspend the statutory rule can be done and legislation given its readings at the same meeting. Legislation held up as a result of the rule includes several measures such as granting of the appropriation of money, franchises and others.

Of the numerous measures submitted for action three were adopted. Council adopted an ordinance authorizing for a contract with Harding township for fire protection service for one period from July 16, 1947 to Jan 15, 1948. A charge of $1.50 will be made for each hour the equipment is used outside the corporation limits, with a charge of $1.00 to be made for each additional hour.

Salary for Nurses

The salary for undergraduate nurses employed by City hospital was set at $150 per month in an ordinance adopted by council. The ordinance states the nurses must have at least two years of training in an approved nursing school. The measure was submitted as a means of alleviating the shortage of nurses at City hospital. Nurses who have completed the full period of training receive $175 per month.

The third measure adopted was a resolution authorizing the city engineer to prepare estimates on proposed sewer improvement on South street from Cheney avenue to the Prospect pike.

Lengthy discussion of use of the baseball stadium in Lincoln park, and several public hearings occupied councilmen though they were unable to vote.

Sid Tennant and Paul Eshman, representing the Safety Cab Athletic Co., appeared before council with a request that action be taken to allow their use of the Lincoln park stadium as a semi-professional football field during the fall months. A bid for rental of the field was turned down earlier by the park commission. The Marion Baseball Co. rents the field on a yearly basis for the Marion Cubs.

In reply to Mr. Tennant's inquiry, Mayor Harry L. Dowler explained that the council gave authority over park affairs to the park board and that council cannot act to break a contract made by the board. Mayor Dowler further explained that it was not anticipated when the contract was signed several years ago that there would be any other local interest in the stadium as a playing field.

Mr. Tennant argued for joint lease of the stadium for football and baseball, stating that at present there are a number of Marion players on the semi-professional team who are not able to use the local park while the Marion baseball team is composed almost entirely of out-of-town players.

Mayor Dowler asked Mr. Tennant about conversion of the field from football to baseball during the change of seasons, to which Mr. Tennant replied that the expense of such conversion should be borne by the park board and paid for by funds received from rental of the stadium.

Referred To Solicitor

Council President William G. Mauck referred the matter to the city solicitor for study.

A number of property owners were present to object to closing of the first alley north of Church street between Vine and Baker streets, claiming it would cut off access to garages located at the rear of lots in the area. Supporters of the proposition to close the alley objected to possible increase of traffic resulting from location of a frozen foods locker service plant on Baker street. Council will vote on the measure Wednesday. Asked by council to express his opinion, Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher stated his belief that it would be poor policy to close the alley at this time.

In a hearing on a petition for changing a lot on North Main street near the city limits from residential to commercial for the purpose of erecting a root beer stand adjacent property owners raised objections, expressing the desire to keep the area residential in character. They objected to possible nuisance which might result from opening of a drive-in stand.

Other measures given first readings were: ordinance authorizing transfer of a lot at the rear of the corner of Buckeye and Henry streets from residential to commercial; ordinance authorizing transfer of a lot on North Main street from residential to commercial; ordinance authorizing transfer of a lot on Gill avenue from residential to commercial; ordinance transferring right of franchise from Marion Rapid Transit Co., a partnership, to Marion Rapid Transit Co., a corporation; resolution to construct and repair damaged sidewalks in various parts of the city; ordinance authorizing the safety-service director to advertise for bids on a truck for the service department; ordinance authorizing the safety-service director to advertise for bids for purchase of an automobile for the service department; ordinance authorizing the safety-service director to lease for farming purposes about 640 acres of the new Marion airport which will not be needed for airport purposes during 1948; ordinance authorizing the safety-service director to advertise for bids for installation of a compressor type garbage truck body.

Resolutions authorizing the Ohio Public Service Co. to install streets lights at the east end of Fillmore avenue and at the corner of Clinton street and Woodrow avenue; ordinance authorizing the city solicitor to settle a claim for $225 brought against the city by Elmo Miley in the death of Ray Miley; ordinance for vacation of streets south of Quarry street to the Erie railroad right-of-way, including Ballentine avenue and Patterson street; ordinance authorizing the city solicitor to settle the claim of Francis Belt against the city for accident damages in the amount of $165.50.

Hearings Set

Public hearings were set for Aug. 25 on petitions for transfer of lots on Baker street and South Prospect street from residential to commercial zone. Referred to the planning commission were petitions for transfer of lots on Henry street and the corner of Delaware avenue and Superior street from residential to commercial zone.

Request for transfer of $15,862.56 to the police fund was referred to the finance committee. Referred to the street and alley committee was a petition for surfacing of London street between Main and Oak streets and the alley running south from London street.

Council accepted the report of the Marion Water Co. that three additional fire hydrants had been installed in the city. Referred to the city solicitor for study was the possibility that the city might levy an amusement tax when state amusement tax is terminated in October.

Councilman Harold Robinson reported that a dangerous condition exists on Mill street where curbings have sunken to the point where they do not form a recognizable boundary to the street. Councilman Don Biggert entered a complaint about a number of signs located at the city limits which he claims obstruct the driver's view.

The report on hardness of city water for the period ended July 14 showed a high of 7.7 and a low of 5.6 grains.

5 Sued for Total Of $200,000 In Death of Infants

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., July 15—Two officials of Massillon City hospital and three other persons were defendants today in suits asking $200,000 in the mysterious deaths of two infants at the hospital on June 6.

The petitions were filed in Stark county common pleas court by Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Morton, parents of Rose Mary, 10 weeks old, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brand, parents of Diane J., eight weeks old.

The infants were found dying in their cribs, and Coroner E. C. Reno returned verdicts of homicide, ruling that crushing force had been applied to their skulls. There have been no arrests in the case.

Individual defendants are Edward J. Lincke, superintendent of the hospital; Jay G. Lester, president of the hospital board; Marian Silleck and Murna Corfi, nurses on duty when the babies were found, and James Dooley, a free lance writer who prepared an announcement of the deaths for the hospital.

Lester and Dooley declined comment.

The suits contend the defendants entered "into an unlawful combination and conspiracy with willful and malicious intent and purpose to obstruct administration of justice."

The petitions contended the defendants failed to notify police authorities on finding the bodies; destroyed physical evidence by scrubbing the room in which the injuries were inflicted; removed fingerprints and bloodstains; refused to permit reasonable questioning by police, and circulated "weird, fantastic and untrue accounts of the deaths;" with the intent to confuse police.

What's Bruin?

Sports writers with their pencils, managers, players and just plain leather-lung fans around the Ohio State league are wondering just what is holding the Zanesville Dodgers at the top of the standings besides seven other teams below them.

The "Bums" have no standout performer at any position in the lineup. Only one regular catcher Ray Dabek, is over the 300 mark in batting. The club ranks below Marion in team fielding, and is seventh in team batting. The only pitcher among the top flingers is Sanford Lambert with a record of 12 and four.

The Dodgers top the loop in only three departments—besides the standings—they have stolen the most bases, received the most base on balls and have made the most sacrifice hits, according to the latest figures from Howe News Bureau.

• • •

The answer to the question, "What's good about them'" must lie in the skillful maneuvering of skipper Clay Bryant, the old Chicago Cub fireballer.

Bryant has been at the top of the circuit when the marbles were picked up for three straight years, although he has never won the league pennant, finishing second everytime. He has won all three of the Shaughnessy playoffs at the end of the season.

• • •

Bryant, who is a refutation of the old rule that pitchers never make good managers because they hesitate to jerk pitchers, was a standout hurler for Charlie Grimm's Cubs in 1938 winning 19 games in his second year in the big time. In the next year arm trouble put Clay on the shelf and he was never able to recover although the Cubs sent him to many doctors.

Bryant plays the baseball percentages out to the last decimal place. He has a pitcher in the bull pen at all times and seldom does he get by with only one pitcher during a game. He plays for one run early in the game and continues to do so as long as the game is close. He sends his runners out to steal bases and the extra sack gained often brings victory. By running hard he causes the opposition to throw the ball away often. This strategy probably works better in D league than in the big show, but the St. Louis Cards have made it pay for a long time.

The Dodgers very seldom beat themselves and hold the score down so they are nearly always in the ball game until the last out.

In 1932 the Yankees gained four successive shutouts with Red Ruffing, Lefty Gomez, George Pipgras and Johnny Allen pitching. Recently the Yanks won three straight shutouts behind Frank Shea, Allie Reynolds and Spud Chandler.

IMPROVED TIGER — By Jack Sords

Bruins Spanked, 7-5, By Mansfield School

By JIM DARBY

Marion's Cubs got a 7-5 spanking last night at Lincoln park from the Mansfield Cub Training school.

Of course it could be said—with good reason—that the local Bruins obligingly bent over a barrel.

Grabbing a last laugh before they settle down to the well-nigh impossible task of bringing the All-Star game to Marion, the Cubs staged a baseball farce for the amusement of 409 fans.

Shift in Reverse

They were leading, 5-2, in the top of the fifth when the Training school sent in a stocky little pinch hitter. The local outfit pulled a reverse Williams shift on the right-handed hitter, with the bases loaded.

Everyone moved over west of second base and the batter sent a fly ball to the depopulated wilderness of right field for a three-run triple, tying the score. He scored the winning run on a hit a moment later.

Then Burbrink, who had been doing a job at shortstop which certainly will throw no terror into Lou Boudreau, moved over and relieved Graney on the mound.

Lawrence Pinch-Hits

In their own half of the fifth, the Cubs, with two men in scoring position, sent Jitts Lawrence, whose batting average brushes elbows with absolute zero, into pinch hit. He struck out.

Rain lowered a merciful curtain in the sixth inning.

Tonight the Cubs entertain Dayton, which has never won a game in Lincoln park. The Indians will be in town Wednesday and Thursday, with Friday an open date.

Saturday night the Springfield Giants will play a single game here, with a doubleheader scheduled Sunday.

To bring the All-Star game to Lincoln park the Cubs must either win six games while Zanesville loses five or the Cubs must win five while the league-leading Bums are dropping all six of their contests. The Dodgers, to date, have never suffered anything like that kind of a losing streak. They are playing Richmond and Muncie this week.

Dayton, Muncie Win OSL Games

By The Associated Press

Dayton won a doubleheader from Richmond 11-6 and 3-1 and Muncie edged out Springfield 2-1 in the only games played in the Ohio State league Monday night.

It was an open date for other members of the loop. The games at Richmond and Springfield had been postponed from Sunday because of rain.

Muncie almost had a double win over the Springfield Giants. After winning the first game, the Packers held a 13-6 lead in the nightcap when it was called at the end of the third inning by rain. In the opener Muncie scored the winning run in the ninth when third baseman Bill Ford singled home his teammate, first baseman Leonard Lamont.

At Richmond, the Indians scored all their 11 runs in the fifth inning of the seven-inning opener. Richmond shortstop Ed Gerber threw wild to second with two out for an error, and the Indians smashed out nine hits before three Richmond pitchers could quell the outbreak.

GIANTS SORE AT N.Y. YANKS OVER STEAL OF "BOBO" NEWSOM

Gentleman's Agreement Fades When Bombers Prove They Are Not Gentlemen.

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 15 — The New York Giants were at odds with the Yankees today because of the "man-naping" of Louis Norman ((Bobo) Newsom, who supposedly was ticketed to bolster the Polo Grounds pitching staff but was intercepted enroute by the American league leaders.

The Giants were in a slow roast over the "theft" of Newsom, intimating that the loss of baseball's greatest wanderer might cost them the National league pennant.

Bobo, the story goes, was supposed to be waived out of the American league and to the Giants. There is a suspicion that one of those oft-occurring "gentlemen's agreement" affairs, which happen so often and mysteriously in baseball, was on. The Washington Senators wanted to get off the hook on Newsom's $16,000 salary and the Giants were willing to assume it because of the inefficiency of their throwing crew.

But the Yankees, with three sore-armed pitchers on their staff, refused to waive on Bobo. They wanted him as pennant insurance, and the Senators, not caring particularly as long as they got off the healthy nut represented by Bobo's paycheck, let him go to the Yanks.

The Yankee grab was inspired by the ailments which have beset the flippers of Frank (Spec) Shea, their rookie pitching star; Spud Chandler and Floyd Bevens. But the Yanks have built up a nice, comfortable cushion and can afford to gamble with somebody like the irrepressible Bobo to rest the aces for the stretch drive.

Bobo is a handy man to have around when the chips are down. In 1938 he was the only 20-game winner the Browns have had in two decades and although his record is now a losing five-and-six, Bobo still has all the confidence of those early days.

Bobo will be 39 in August but this is the type of spot he loves. He's with a winner and has a chance to hit the jackpot once more. So he'll be bearing down plenty all the way — even if he does forget now and then to slice the ham thin.

And if the Giants and Yanks do get in to make it an eight cent series — what with prices going up because the subways are in a hole — the fans will get their extra three cents worth. The Giants don't figure to cool off that soon on the Newsom steal.

Legion Pulverizes Delaware 16 to 4

By GEORGE ROEST

With most of their hits going for extra bases, the local ... Legion team had no trouble beating the Delaware junior ... 16-4 at Lincoln park yesterday afternoon in a district tournament game.

Pitcher Jack Owens allowed only two hits, but was ... in the second Delaware scoring all their runs then.

Of the nine Marion hits six went for extra bases. Jim Rea's three-run double in the big nine run fifth inning was the most damaging local blow of the game.

Pitcher Bats Well

Delaware pitcher Dick Linscott also batted in three runs on a double, but he couldn't hold the Marion lads down after sending his squad out in front. He also got the other Delaware hit in the seventh. After stealing second he was picked off base by an Owens-to-Thomas peg.

Owens struck out 11 men and walked six in getting the win.

Bill Mathias, who was out most of the game Saturday, was the leading hitter yesterday with two doubles in two trips. He also drew two walks.

Next Opponent Unknown

No word had been received this morning as to who would ... the next Marion tournament opponent. Original plans called ... the district tournament to ... played at Ohio State university but apparently district headquarters has decided tournaments should be held on one of the participating team's home fields.

Marion has a non-tournament game scheduled at Lima Thursday night. It will be played ... to a Lima-Springfield Ohio-State league tilt.

Cincinnati Presents New Low-Hit Pitcher

By International News Service

NEW YORK, July 15 — Cincinnati, cradle of no-hit and low-hit pitchers throughout the years, has another super-duper today in Ev (Bud) Lively, Birmingham rookie, who held the Brooklyn Dodgers to one hit last night and beat them, 9-1.

Lively faced only 29 batters and pitched a perfect game save for one momentary lapse in the second inning when Pee Wee Reese walked and Spud Jorgensen doubled off the scoreboard for Brooklyn's only hit and only run. Meanwhile the Reds kayoed Ralph Branca, who had won seven straight. The Dodgers also had won seven straight.

Lively thus barely missed a seat in baseball's Hall of Fame alongside of two team mates — Ewell Blackwell, who turned in the National league's only no-hitter so far this season, and Johnny Vandermeer, who years ago hurled two successive no-hitters.

Not Lively for Lively

The so-called lively ball is not lively when Lively is throwing it. He has been pitching good ball all season, mainly in relief roles.

Boston's second-place Braves muffed a chance to gain on the pacesetting Dodgers in the National league race when they dropped a 5-3 decision to the Chicago Cubs, who snapped a nine-game losing streak. The Bruins forged ahead when Johnny Sain's pitching hand was struck by a line drive, causing him to lose his effectiveness.

The New York Giants advanced to within two games of the Braves by downing Pittsburgh, 5-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Floppy Hartung.

Johnny Mize, current home run king of the majors, rapped his 26th homer of the season for the Giants and Bill Rigney and Sid Gordon chipped in with one circuit clout apiece.

Munger Falls Apart

George Munger, who has been going great guns for the Cards, especially at night, came a cropper under the arc lights at Philadelphia. He was the losing pitcher, after seven straight wins, as the Phils scored three runs in the fifth and won, 5-2.

In the American league, the St. Louis Browns scored six runs in the third inning and swamped Washington 13-3. Only 478 fans turned out for this game.

The Detroit-Athletics and Yankee-White Sox games were washed out, but the Red Sox and Indians clashed in a night game at Cleveland.

Don Black, who pitched a no-hitter in his last start, hurled for the Indians and showed that his masterpiece was no fluke by handcuffing the Red Sox until the ninth inning when Bobby Doerr hit a home run with the bases empty to win a 1-0 thriller for Boo Ferriss. It was a tough one for Black to lose but demonstrated convincingly that the reformed playboy now ranks with the junior circuit's best pitchers.

Smitty's All-Stars Tie Mansfield Softball 9

Smitty's All-Stars got a 1-1 tie out of eight innings against Gorman Rupp of Mansfield last night at Crystal Lake. It was stopped because of rain. The game had been scheduled to go seven innings.

Marion tied things up in the sixth on a single by Moran and a triple by Hart.

Next Sunday the teams will meet again at Mansfield. The Maids are booked at Clyde.

Tomorrow the All-Stars and Maids go to Columbus to play the Wyandotte A. C.'s.

California Wars Over Who Claims Blackwell

By FRANK NEILL
INS Sports Writer

SAN DIMAS, Cal., July 15—Citizens of the Southern California community of San Dimas are thinking seriously of changing the name to Blackwell.

The town that once was proudest of its great citrus groves today brags that its No. 1 product is a skinny fellow named Ewell Blackwell.

The current pitching sensation of the major leagues learned his baseball in San Dimas.

When the 6-foot 5-inch twirler was knee-high to a Louisville slugger, his dad bought him a two-bit baseball and a drugstore mitt. For hours on end Flugin E. Blackwell and young Ewell played catch in front of the family home.

Start of Career

That was the start of a career that today is the talk of organized ball.

Blackie's mound victories for the Cincinnati Reds make him first in National league standings. He has always been first in the hearts of his hometown neighbors.

"Always knew the boy would go to the top," is the way one old San Dimas gent put it. "Ever since he was a little shaver, all he ever thought about was baseball."

Cincinnati's sophomore string bean probably doesn't know it but he is precipitating a potential civil war in this area.

San Dimas claims "Blackie is our boy!" So does nearby Bonita, where he pitched on the high school team. So does nearby La Verne, where he pitched for La Verne Junior college. Even Fresno—up in central California, where he was born—is trying to get into the act.

Glenn Davis Teammate

Glenn Davis, West Point's fabulous athlete, played one year with Blackie on the Bonita nine.

Davis, home on an army leave, recalled today:

"He was a terrific pitcher that long ago. He was pretty wild, but he could really toss that apple. And he was fine hitter. In fact, Blackie was our whole ball club."

After a stint at La Verne college, Blackie went to work for Vultee Aircraft. A flock of big league scouts cornered him on the assembly line. Bids flew fast.

Bums Edged Out

Pat Patterson, the Cincy Scout, edged out Ted McGrew of Brooklyn and other ivory hunters.

What has happened since is common knowledge to diamond fans. But the elder Blackwell let a family secret out of the bag: Blackie, despite his rugged duty in the army and his traveling around the big cities in the east, keeps wanting to come home.

"He's the most homesick boy you ever saw," said Blackwell, a real estate agent. "He calls us long-distance four or five times a week. Just to talk and hear our voices."

The night Blackie pitched his 6-to-0 no-hitter against Boston, he talked to the homefolks for half an hour after the game.

His dad said Blackie airmailed home the last ball he pitched that night on June 18, when he entered baseball's Hall of Fame.

"Next to that first cheap ball I bought him years ago," said Mr. Blackwell, "that ball is the most important thing in Blackie's life."

LIGHT SELLING HALTS MARKET ADVANCES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 15 — Light selling today halted the general stock market advance although individual issues continued to make a little headway and nothing in the way of real weakness was in evidence.

Offerings by those who had good profits on the lengthy swing were based on the idea the list was due for a sizable technical correction The cloudy foreign picture and waning hopes of tax relief accentuated caution.

A jump in earnings gave Phillip-Jones common a lift. Ahead most of the time were McGraw Electric, Studebaker, Willys-Overland, Nash-Kelvinator, American Can, Johns-Manville, Chrysler, Santa Fe and Great Northern Railway.

Occasional losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors Texas Co, Southern Railway, Spencer Kellogg, J. C. Penney, Youngstown Sheet, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, Glen Martin, Western Union "A," Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, U S. Rubber, Kennecott and American Smelting.

Advocate of 3-Term Congressional Limit, Running for 4th.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON. July 15—Rep. Arnold (R-Mo), who advocated a couple of years ago that house members be limited to three terms, announced today he will seek reelection to a fourth term.

"I've changed my mind," Arnold told a reporter.

"I have learned that it takes three terms in the house to get onto the ropes well, to get more seniority on committees and to do more good for your district."

COAL PRODUCTION UP AND SO ARE PRICES

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, July 15—Soft coal production increased today —and so did soft coal prices.

Walter R. Thurmond, secretary of the Southern Coal Producers' association, said consumers "will be required to pay about $800,000,000 additional during the next 12 months."

Thurmond said the recent $1 20-a-day wage increase granted to John L. Lewis' AFL-United Mine Workers "will cost (the operators) more than $1.25 a ton • • • so coal will sell at the mines from $1.25 to $1 50 higher at once."

However, Lewis said in an editorial in the UMW Journal that increased costs to consumers of coal and other products would be "infinitesimal."

The journal estimated the new contract added only 65 to 67 cents to the cost of producing a ton of soft coal.

Anthracite prices were also expected to rise—about 70 cents a ton—because of the Lewis-won wage hikes.

At Wilkes-Barre, Pa., center of the anthracite industry, J B Warringer, president of the Lehigh Navigation and Coal Company, said "while we still are estimating operating costs as affected by the new agreement, it looks now as though the cost increase (of hard coal) will be 70 cents a ton on all sizes."

Thurmond's prediction that soft coal consumers will pay $800,000 000 more for their fuel in the next year followed a plea by President Truman that steel and coal industries should withhold general price increases

'It is only reasonable to ask coal and steel producers to wait until a fair test has been made of the actual affects of the wage advance under conditions of maximum production," the President said.

Steel companies have announced no general price increase.

Meantime, the nation's 400,000 bituminous diggers settled down to regular work and production was reported nearly 100 per cent of capacity.

PLANT FOR SALE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, July 15—A 36-building former war plant near Newark will be offered for sale or lease about Sept. 1 by the war assets administration, Dann O Taber, executive secretary of the Ohio Development and Publicity commission, said today The plant was operated during the war by the Aluminum Co of America and was leased for several months recently by the Reynolds Metal Co

Former OPA Man Now Telling Congress — Not Listening To It

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 15 — There used to be a little guy with a pink face and a high-pitched voice, name of Jerome M. Ney, who suffered as deputy administrator of the OPA. He was in charge of explaining to congressmen why they had holes in their underwear.

Whenever the lawmakers yowled about shortages of shirts and union suits and baby shoes, Chester Bowles sent Ney (rhymes with rye) up to the Hill to face the statesmen in their ragged haberdashery. Time after time I watched him squirm, while senators denounced him to his face as a bureaucrat who was turning them into involuntary nudists Nobody else, unless it was Bowles himself, flushed under so many congressional insults.

Let some dots indicate the passage of the years, piling up of white shirts on every counter in America. And (just a figure of speech, Mr. N.) the turning of the worm:

The same Jerome M Ney, looking a little plumper than in the old days, appeared before congress to tell what was wrong with business. This time he did the talking; the senators and representatives on the joint economic committee listened respectfully.

Talking As Magnate

This time he was talking as an Arkansas department store magnate (he owns the Boston store in Ft. Smith) and also as chairman of the American Retail federation, representing 500,000 jewelers, druggists, grocers, and drygoods merchants. The membership's not happy.

If this nation is to remain prosperous, Ney said, we have got to continue to produce twice as much merchandise (and use it up, too) as we did in 1939. Already he sees signs that we're not doing it.

The figure showing department store sales making new records every week aren't exactly phoney-baloney, he said, but they don't reflect more stuff being sold. People are buying fewer things (including shirts), but are paying so much for each article that the dollar sales are breaking records. This, he said, is not good.

Mush Look, Little Boy

And another thing. The customers are doing more looking than buying, because they think prices are too high. Ney can't blame 'em for that. He thinks so, too. But the manufacturers keep raising prices and there's the retailer caught in the middle. And how much longer does congress think that can last?

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the chairman, wondered if Ney had any suggestions. He had plenty of them.

He said it was a shame [illegible] out what's wrong with the building industry, and dust off the anti-monopoly laws for use on the selfish ones who are fixing prices to return unconscionable profits. Sen. Taft suggested he name some

Ney said he thought congress ought to have a pretty good idea "I am pointing no finger," he said, "but many witnesses before this very committee have referred to the building business. If that contains monopolies, then it seems to us that other industries also are suspects."

He walked out then with shoulders back and eyes glistening behind his spectacles; it was hard to recognize him as the little guy with the hang-dog look who once tried to explain—never successfully — why congressmen couldn't but new underwear to replace their pre-war rags.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

MARY was as good as her word. She won most of the bridge hands, and although I was sure that Dicky was doing his artistic best to throw to her the ones he might have won, I did not possess enough knowledge of the game to detect how he was doing it.

But I mentally applauded his rise when I saw that, for the time, she was absorbed in the zest of winning, and that her obsession over her Aunt Harriet's telegram and the fateful message it would contain had lifted from her spirits.

We played for almost two hours, but, during the last one, I was conscious that Katharine was watching her patient unobtrusively but narrowly. Then, as we finished a game, with Mary and me the winners—I had been her partner—my kins-woman spoke with decision.

"No more today," she announced.

"And me with a winning streak, thanks to my clever uncle's generosity," Mary said, with a little moue at him, and I realized that she had seen through his ruse but had enjoyed it, and the game, nevertheless.

"I was off my form today, Brat, and you know it," he protested. "I'll get even tomorrow."

"Tomorrow?" Mary echoed, and her voice was suddenly doleful and frightened.

Unseen by her patient, Katharine made a swishing motion with her hand, and Dicky and I stole unobtrusively from the room. As we went, we heard Katharine's voice in brisk admonition.

Tired Enough

"Now I'm going to run you a hot bath. You're to soak for a bit, then I'll rub you down and give you some hot milk. I think you're tired enough for a nap."

The door closed on the words, and Dicky's voice held anxiety, tinged with admiration.

"Katrina's doing a swell job, but she's having herself a time, isn't she? How is she ever going to get through the hours until Dr. Twitchell comes and puts Mary to sleep for the night?"

"She'll manage some way," I said confidently. "I really am much encouraged by the result of the bridge game. I didn't hope much from it but it succeeded admirably. Mary really forgot her terror for almost two hours, and I think she's tired enough now for a nap. Then, later on, there'll be a brief call from Faith—I'm sure Katharine will want her to come in—and the visit from Noel."

"Those won't take up too much time," Dicky said. "I'll squeeze out time for another game of bridge if she needs it."

"Don't crowd your luck!" I admonished him. "You heard Katharine tell Mary no more bridge today, and she meant it. Go back to work with a clear conscience. I have a scheme of my own for making the time pass for Mary. I'll tell you about it later, if it work. Now get up to your studio with dispatch."

"Okay, and so long! And call me if you need me," he said briskly, and went out of the door, patently "raring to go."

The Nearest Chair

I sat down in the nearest chair when he had closed the door, and settled myself resignedly to wait until Katharine should come in with news of Mary. But it was fully twenty minutes before she came through the door with her finger on her lips and shut it noiselessly behind her.

Then she came over to me, and threw herself into a chair opposite to mine.

"She's asleep, thank heaven, but the length of her nap is on the lap of the well-known gods. I must get back in there in a minute."

"Was the bridge game beneficial?" I asked.

"Decidedly," she answered. "But she's so restless, I don't want to risk another one for fear she'll get bored. Have you any bright ideas for putting in the time till we can put her under her night sleeping pill?"

"I have about a quarter of an idea," I told her.

"Produce it pronto!" she ordered.

"Before Mary began her study of her lines," I said slowly, "she asked me to read the first act of my play, dramatically, as if the parts were being acted out. I noticed that she seemed quite taken out of herself while she listened, and I wondered—"

"Don't stall!" Katharine commanded as I hesitated. "Out with it!"

"I wondered, if I could get hold of a brand-new, extra dramatic 'who dun it' with a humorous touch and nothing weird about it, whether Mary might not be interested if I read it aloud to her, putting in all possible dramatic flourishes."
